So Others Might Eat (SOME) will hold their annual Thanksgiving day Turkey Trot on Thurs, Nov 22nd at Freedom

Plaza. Our team, St. Joseph's Joggers pictured here from 2017, will be running again this year. The Trot for Hunger brings thousands of people together on Thanksgiving day to run (or walk) to help end homelessness and hunger in our nation's capital. There are almost 7000 men, women and children experiencing homelessness and nearly 20% of Washingtonians live in poverty. The Trot is a fun, meaningful start to your Thanksgiving – each participant is critical to ensuring that these folks receive the services they need. Early bird Registration is open at this link <https://www.trotforhunger.org/register> until October 31st. Remember to type in St. Joseph's Joggers to join our team. If you have any questions, please contact trotforhunger@some.org

News from St. Peter School - School Spotlight: Virtues Program

As a school embedded with Catholic values, academic excellence, and service to others, St. Peter School teaches students to be successful both in and out of the classroom. The SPS virtue program emphasizes character development through classroom lessons dedicated to the virtue of the month, which is posted in each classroom. Following is the Virtue prayer for the month of October. It is said each morning during school-wide prayer. The October virtue is kindness.

Dear Jesus,

You are kindness itself. I desire to show charity towards my neighbor through my thoughts, words, and actions. When others meet me, let them meet YOU in me.

Amen.

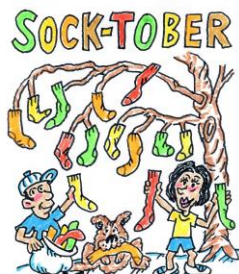

Bible Study with Fr. Begg: the next class is on Tuesday, Oct. 16, at 7:00PM in the Parish Center. We are studying St. Paul's First Letter to Timothy. Please bring the handouts

Priesthood, Consecration, Marriage: Is Love Possible? The Pontifical John Paul II Institute invites you to a symposium on November 3, 2018: "Priesthood, Consecration, Marriage: Is Love Possible?" (9:00am - 3:30pm) Keane Auditorium, McGivney Hall In many respects, the Church and her members are now at a point of crisis. Yet, "crisis" (krisis) in its original meaning is a decisive "turning point" as well as a moment of clarification. It implies both the suffering and travail of the moment and the promise of a new birth. Both in the culture and in the Church, the point on which this moment of crisis turns is at least in part forgetfulness of the created structure of the person, man and woman, in God's love, the nature of God's call, and the modes of its realization in the vowed states of life—priesthood, consecration, marriage. What are the sources of our current disenchantment with these states of Christian life? Can we still live the priesthood, consecrated virginity, and marriage in fidelity and truthfulness? Can we somehow rediscover their roots in love? What might allow us to suffer through the travail that always precedes fruitfulness? The Body as Anticipatory Sign: Commemorating the Anniversaries of Humanae Vitae & Veritatis Splendor - November 15, 2018 — November 17, 2018 – Pope Paul VI's publication Humanae vitae in late July of 1968 and twenty-five years later, Saint John Paul II's encyclical, Veritatis splendor. And now in 2018, the coinciding of these two major anniversaries of these teachings on the Church's doctrine affords a timely opportunity to engage in a deep and sustained reflection both on the shared ethical and anthropological teachings and missions of these seminal encyclicals and on the reasons why they have met such difficulty in our modern social and ecclesial environment. <https://www.johnpaulii.edu/events/view/the-body-as->
